

Part 1:

What is the setting for bits per second? Answer: 9600

What is the prompt displayed on the screen?: Answer: S1

- a) Which command begins with the letter 'C'? Answer: Connect
- b) Which commands are displayed? Answer: telnet, terminal, traceroute
- c) Which commands are displayed? Answer: telnet terminal

Part 2:

- a) What information is displayed for the enable command? Answer: turn on to privileged commands
- b) What displays after pressing the Tab key? Answer: Enable
What would happen if you typed te at the prompt? Answer: Nothing
- c) How does the prompt change? Answer: S1#
- d) How many commands are displayed now that privileged EXEC mode is active?
Answer: clear, clock, configure, connect, copy
- a) What is the message that is displayed? Answer: configuring from terminal, memory, or network[terminal]?
- b) How does the prompt change? Answer: S1(config)#

Part 3:

- a) What information is displayed? Answer: *0:13:14.50 UTC Mon Mar 1 1993
- b) What information is displayed? Answer: % Incomplete command
- c) What information is displayed? Answer: set, Set the time and date
- d) What information is being requested? Answer: hh:mm:ss Current Time a)

- b) S1# cl<tab> Questions: What information was returned? Answer: Nothing S1# clock Question: What information was returned? Answer: % Incomplete command

S1# clock set 25:00:00 Question: What information was returned? Answer: Invalid input detected at “^” marker

S1# clock set 15:00:00 32 Question: What information was returned? Answer: Invalid input detected at “^” marker